

The Liberty Trail

America's independence was secured in South Carolina across its swamps, fields, woods and mountains. These events of 1779-1782 directly led to victory in the Revolutionary War. We call this history The Liberty Trail.

The Liberty Trail—developed through a partnership between the American Battlefield Trust and the South Carolina Battleground Trust—connects battlefields across South Carolina and tells the captivating and inspiring stories of this transformative chapter of American history.

Connecting Revolutionary History

The vision for The Liberty Trail is ambitious, with the goals of permanently protecting more than 2,500 acres of battlefield land and ultimately linking nearly 80 sites.

The Liberty Trail tour guide app connects 30 National Parks, SC State Parks, and local sites with a series of new battlefield parks being developed through The Liberty Trail partnership. Additional sites and features will continue to be added.

Combining the preservation of these hallowed battlegrounds with unique on-site interpretation and cutting-edge digital features, The Liberty Trail will connect visitors to the extraordinary events that came to pass nearly 250 years ago and honor the patriots that decided the Revolution's outcomes in South Carolina.

This funding will help to create interpretive signs and digital interpretation for multiple historic sites in Kershaw and Berkeley Counties. This Interpretation is for sites on the SC Liberty Trail. These funds leverage federal acquisition funds to make the sites ready for public visitation. The Economic Benefits are realized through increased heritage tourism.

Douglas W. Bostick, CEO
South Carolina Battleground Trust

